CERTIFICATE IV GOVERNMENT (INVESTIGATION)

TRAINING OVERVIEW

PSP41504

Introduction

The Australian Institute of Private Detectives is the leading representative body for Private/Commercial Investigators in Australia and is a proactive organisation working for the benefit of its members, their clients (Government and Coporates), as well as the general public.

In 2005 the AIPD introduced the National Code of Practice for Investigators & Mercantile Agents in Australia (see www.aipd.com.au) and are consistently addressing the ongoing professional development of commercial investigation practitioners thought consultation with stakeholders and related industries such as the safety, security, fire protection industries.

The AIPD, since 2004 has carefully selected the most reputable Registered Training Organisations (RTO's) with peak performing professional histories in specialist portfolios of training in order to provide members access to a cost effective but professional level of training development.

Our selected RTO for Commercial and Government Investigation related courses is Diverse Training Concepts, a highly reputable RTO who specialises in investigation/fraud control, safety/risk management and security training. DTC is a preferred supplier to Government in Australia. The AIPD, through it's strategic alliance and formal licensing arrangements with DTC are able to offer members and industry, training from the Public Service PSP04 and the Asset Security CPP07 Training Packages. These packages are Nationally Accredited Training Certified by the Vocational Education Training & Assessment Scheme in Australia often known as the Australian Quality Training Framework (AQTF).
